BUILDING RESILIENCE: A YEAR OF PROGRESS AND A VISION FORWARD FOR MIAMI SHORES

Over the past year, Miami Shores Village has made meaningful progress in strengthening infrastructure, protecting the environment, and enhancing quality of life—while setting a clear course for the future. Through thoughtful planning and strong partnerships with Miami-Dade County and the State of Florida, the Village continues to invest in long-term resilience.

A major milestone is the ongoing septic-to-sewer conversion in the Shores Estates neighborhood, supported by more than $3.1 million in grant funding. In addition, Miami Shores recently secured $8 million in State funding to advance the next phase of septic-to-sewer improvements in the southeastern area of the Village. Together, these projects reduce nutrient pollution, protect Biscayne Bay, and improve public health. Flood mitigation efforts also delivered direct benefits to residents. An improved Community Rating System score now provides a 25 percent reduction in flood insurance premiums, reflecting stronger floodplain management and resilience-focused planning.

Coastal protection advanced with construction of a new seawall, including a living seawall component that enhances marine habitat while protecting shorelines. This project is supported by more than $3.1 million in grant funding. Looking ahead, continued investment in roadways, stormwater systems, public amenities, and strategic partnerships will ensure Miami Shores remains a resilient, sustainable, and thriving community for generations to come.

THANK YOU TO OUR BOARDS AND COMMITTEES

LOOKING AHEAD:

The Village extends its sincere gratitude to the dedicated members of our Boards and Committees for the time, expertise, and passion they generously contribute to our community. Their volunteer service plays a vital role in shaping policies, advising Village leadership, and strengthening the overall quality of life for residents. Through thoughtful discussion, collaboration, and a shared commitment to public service, these volunteers help guide important initiatives and provide valuable insight on issues that impact the Village every day.

We deeply appreciate their willingness to serve and the many hours they devote to meetings, research, and community engagement. Their efforts reflect a strong spirit of civic pride and volunteerism that helps keep the Village moving forward.

As we look ahead, we encourage new residents to get involved, share their perspectives, and consider serving on a Board or Committee. Continued participation ensures fresh ideas, sustained progress, and a strong foundation for the future of our Village.

MIAMI SHORES AWARDED $350,000 RESILIENT FLORIDA PLANNING GRANT

Miami Shores Village is proud to announce that it has been awarded $350,000 through the Florida Department of Environmental Protection's Office of Resilience and Coastal Protection under the Resilient Florida Program. This Fiscal Year 2025-2026 Planning Grant will support the development of the Miami Shores Village Adaptation Plan, a critical next step following the update to the Village Vulnerability Study, in preparing our community for the impacts of flooding, sea level rise, and other climate-related challenges.

The Adaptation Plan will help identify vulnerabilities, prioritize resilient infrastructure projects, and guide long-term planning to protect residents, neighborhoods, and public assets. Funding will be provided through a cost-reimbursement grant agreement, ensuring responsible use of state resources. This award reflects Miami Shores' ongoing commitment to proactive planning and environmental stewardship, and positions the Village to compete for future implementation funding as we continue building a more resilient and sustainable community.

A NEW STORYWALK® BOOK IS ON SHOW AT MIAMI SHORES VILLAGE OPTIMIST PARK!

Take a leisurely walk along the Story-Walk® path and immerse yourself in the enchanting pages of this stunning picture book. Inspired by author Sophie Blackall's visits to lighthouses where she climbed spiral staircases, pored over keepers' logbooks, and gazed happily out lantern room windows; Sophie Blackall has never met a lighthouse she didn't like. With breathtaking illustrations, the book tells the story of a lighthouse located on the highest rock at the edge of the world. Inside, the [lighthouse] keeper writes, a surprise arrives, and change is on the horizon. Hello Lighthouse is a luminous tribute to a steadfast lighthouse and its reassuring light. This StoryWalk® book will be on display January, February, and March 2026 at Optimist Park. The StoryWalk® Project was created by Anne Ferguson of Montpelier, VT and developed in collaboration with the Kellogg-Hubbard Library. StoryWalk® is a registered service mark owned by Ms. Ferguson.

CODE COMPLIANCE

ENHANCING TRANSPARENCY AND SAFETY IN CODE COMPLIANCE

The Village is introducing body-worn cameras for Code Compliance officers as part of an ongoing effort to strengthen transparency, professionalism, and safety during inspections. These cameras help promote respectful, calm interactions by providing an objective record of inspections and conversations, which can de-escalate tense situations before they escalate.

For residents, this means clearer communication and fewer misunderstandings during inspections. Having a documented record helps ensure everyone is on the same page and conversations stay focused on solutions.

Body cameras also protect both residents and officers by clearly documenting facts when questions or disputes arise, providing peace of mind through added clarity and accountability. By adding this tool, the Village is reinforcing fair, consistent enforcement practices while fostering positive interactions and building greater trust and understanding between the community and Code Compliance staff.

BOARD NEWS

RESIDENTIAL CODE REWRITE

On December 8th, 2025, the Planning and Zoning Board held a Special Call meeting to continue the Residential "R" Zoning Code rewrite, building on ideas shared by residents during community workshops held on April 22nd and July 17th, as well as feedback submitted through resident surveys. Village staff presented a comprehensive overview of the public input received both online and in person, along with recommended updates to the single-family residential zoning code. This feedback has helped clarify what our community values most — preserving neighborhood character while allowing thoughtful, well-designed improvements.

During the meeting, the Planning and Zoning Board reviewed the draft ordinance line by line, offering guidance on provisions that are working well and identifying areas needing refinement. Several items were accepted, while others were recommended for modification. Staff will now incorporate this direction and return with a revised draft at a future Special Call meeting for further review. Community participation remains essential as this process moves forward — every voice helps shape the future of Miami Shores. There is still plenty of time to voice your valuable input on these preliminary zoning rules.

To learn more and stay engaged, visit: www.msvfl.gov/ResidentialRCode to view the draft ordinance and staff's executive summary report. Be heard and be part of the conversation!

POLICE DEPARTMENT

On November 25th, 2025, MSPD Chief David Golt and Command Staff members served Thanksgiving lunch to military Veterans. The event was hosted by the Miami-Dade County Association of Chiefs of Police at Loan Depot Park. Its purpose is to celebrate Veterans' service to our Country. MSPD is humbled and grateful to honor these men and women for their service.

HIALEAH PARK RACE TRACK- ICON HISTORIC LANDMARK

Saturday, January 10 | 10:30am

Join award-winning journalist and documentary filmmaker Gaspar González as he explores the history of Hialeah Park — one of South Florida's most iconic locales. From its origins in the 1920s, through its decades-long reign as one of the capitals of Thoroughbred winter racing, to its dramatic closing in 2001 and unexpected rebirth as a casino complex in 2013, Hialeah Park has endured as a landmark.

Hear about: The famed pink flamingos, imported from Cuba and a fixture at Hialeah Park for more than 90 years; Citation, the first racehorse in history to earn more than a million dollars; Diane Crump, the first female jockey to compete at a major pari-mutuel track. Gaspar González has produced and directed documentary programming for PBS, the BBC, ESPN and TV One. He is a graduate of the University of Florida (B.A.) and Yale University (Ph.D.), and the curator of the 2016 HistoryMiami Museum exhibition "Beyond the Game: Sports and the Evolution of South Florida."

THE HIDDEN DANGERS OF HANGING SWINGS IN TREES: WHY ARBORISTS PROHIBIT THEM?

In the family-oriented community of Miami Shores Village, outdoor recreation is an important part of everyday life.

While activities such as walking, biking, and playing outdoors are encouraged, some practices carry risks that are not immediately obvious. One such activity is hanging swings from trees. Although tree swings may appear harmless and nostalgic, they can pose significant safety, maintenance, and liability concerns. For these reasons, Miami Shores Village prohibits the installation of swings in trees to protect both residents and public assets.

Tree swings are often attached to branches that are not structurally designed to support repetitive motion and weight. Even healthy branches can weaken over time due to wind, storms, decay, pests, or internal defects that are not visible from the ground. A sudden branch failure can result in serious injuries, including fractures or head trauma. Florida's climate, with frequent storms and high winds, further increases the likelihood of branch stress and failure.

Improper installation is another common risk. Many tree swings are installed without professional guidance, using ropes, chains, or fasteners that may degrade, loosen, or damage the tree over time. As the tree grows and moves, these attachments can create instability, increasing the risk of sudden failure. Additionally, trees naturally shed leaves, twigs, and branches. A swing can be affected by falling debris or cause unexpected movement, leading to loss of balance or injury.

Miami Shores Village's prohibition on tree swings prioritizes safety, reduces liability, and helps preserve the health of the urban tree canopy. Swings can damage bark and branches, creating entry points for disease and decay, which increases long-term maintenance costs. From a liability standpoint, accidents involving tree swings can result in legal and insurance challenges for both homeowners and the Village.

While the charm of a tree swing is understandable, the potential dangers outweigh the benefits. By enforcing this prohibition, Miami Shores Village demonstrates its commitment to safety, responsible tree care, and the overall well-being of the community.

FLORIDA TREE TRIMMING: ENSURING SAFETY AND HEALTH TO ANSI STANDARDS

Maintaining Florida's trees goes far beyond visual appeal; it is a critical component of public safety, environmental protection, and long-term community resilience. Due to Florida's unique climate, frequent severe weather events, and wide variety of native and non-native tree species, proper tree care must follow established professional standards. Chief among these are the guidelines set by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI), which provide a nationally recognized framework for safe, effective, and responsible tree maintenance.

The ANSI A300 standards serve as the foundation for professional tree care practices throughout the United States, addressing key areas such as pruning, soil management, root care, cabling and bracing, and tree support systems. In Florida, adherence to these standards is especially important because trees are routinely exposed to high winds, heavy rainfall, hurricanes, pests, and disease pressures. ANSI A300 Part 1 outlines proper pruning techniques that promote structural integrity, reduce the likelihood of limb failure, and help trees better withstand storm conditions. Proper pruning not only protects property and people but also extends the lifespan of trees.

ANSI A300 Part 9 focuses on tree risk assessment, providing guidance to identify potential hazards caused by decay, pests, diseases, or structural defects. Early identification allows for proactive mitigation before trees become dangerous. Additionally, Part 10, which addresses Integrated Vegetation Management (IVM), promotes sustainable strategies that balance safety, vegetation health, and ecological preservation. By following ANSI standards, Florida communities ensure responsible tree management that enhances safety, supports environmental stewardship, and strengthens the resilience of landscapes for generations to come.
